

ALLEN ROBINSON

Of all here il est le plus grand;
 Many limericks come from his hand.
 A fourth form debater,
 A coming orator,
 Who will some day be known
 through the land.

HAZEL HENDRICKSON

Pretty Hazel looks just like a flower,
 Growing more sweet and pretty each hour;
 Do you say, "Does she lead
 In her work?" Yes, indeed,
 And to write she possesses great power.

ETTA YINGST

A specialist some day she will be,
 M.A. or perhaps LL.D.
 From Regina she came,
 Now we're proud of her name,
 And our reason the world will soon see.

JOHN KOTCUIBA

John Kotcuiba, the man with the smile,
 Whose prologue beats Chaucer's a mile;
 He reads all the news—
 Nor one whit does he lose—
 And in learning doth his time beguile.

HORTON CHANNELL

A basketball player was Horton,
 At shortstop he now is cavortin'.
 He's athletic and slight,
 In the dance he is light,
 And his wit will soon bring him good fortun'.

FRANCES WHITWORTH

You can tell by the look in her face
 That her knowledge a genius doth grace,
 Some day she will stand
 High up in the land,
 And she'll prove she's the mind for the place.

GLADYS PAXMAN

She is gentle and joyous of mien,
 With a modesty sweetly serene,
 Her face is as fair
 As her wisdom is rare,
 And her mind is uncannily keen.

KATHLEEN SILLERS

Oh, a wonderful girl is Kathleen:
 She is one of the best we have seen;
 She is quite clever, too,
 In history and zoo,
 And in looks she resembles a queen.
