

ANDREW FREETHY

There is really no need advertising
A boy quite so bright and devising.
At sport he's a dandy—
In short, it is Andy,
With a smile that is really surprising.

JOYCE CAMERON

A most pleasing girl is our Joyce:
You would soon fall in love with her voice.
If she gives you a smile
You will feel it's worth while,
And you'll throw up your cap and rejoice.

MURIEL PATTERSON

'Tis rarely that we see this lass,
For she spends little time in our class,
But while she is there
We all are aware
Of her genius, so hard to surpass.

GENEVIEVE KERR

She's petite, but such looks are deceiving,
Some honor she'll soon be achieving.
When she's happy her smile
Is reflected a mile:
An example to others she's leaving.

LILLIAN WESTMAN

At botany Lillian's a winner,
At history a regular sinner;
Her art takes a prize,
And to look in her eyes
You'd know there was lots of fun in her.

MARY McLAUCHLIN

She hails from the land of the mountain,
Where nature placed many a foun-
tain;
Of a voluble trend,
With a studious bend,
A "sintwister" whom Erma can count on.

ERMA JOHNSTON

When the teacher looks down toward her corner,
An innocent look will adorn her;
But still we all know
That look will soon go,
And fun reign supreme in that corner.

HELEN BOESE

Have you seen our fair Helen Boese?
She can speak without making a noise.
Her smile is so cute,
And her curls, how they suit!
She's a favorite with both girls and boys.
