Rugby

THE Rugby Team got away to a flying start this year and during the first few games it looked as though they would win the championship. Under the supervision of Mr. H. S. Toombs and George Mackie the team was put into fine condition for the games. Seymour Buckwold was chosen captain of the team and handled the position well. A few minor casualties marred the season but the players carried on with a fine spirit. A good turnout of players helped in building a strong team and although much was expected of the boys they did their best for the school.

The Nutana Collegiate Rugby Team sends its congratulations to the Technical Collegiate Team for their sportsmanship and for winning the City Rugby Championship.
