

Mr. Wilson—4D class teacher.

Phyllis Mahaffy—she's happy and jolly all the while, she greets all with a merry smile, an Irish air and a freckled nose, she makes many friends wherever she goes.

Reg Smyth—the Lord made earth. He rested, then He made man, He rested, then He made Reg. and no man has rested since.

Barbara Mann—the dark-haired miss is calm and quiet, though hard the task she's sure to try it, all academics bring her fame, Betty Mann is her right name.

Bob Holliday—gallant with the women, brave with the men, he takes his work seriously (now and then).

Mary Fraser—Room 9 would never get along without her laugh, without her song. She always smiles, she never pouts, believe me she's a real good scout.

Christine Tomlenovich—auburn hair, complexion fair, and ever beaming face, dimples rare, merry air, a prize to the human race.

Joan Cooke—and may I tell in many things you do excel, tall, fair, brown-eyed, a singer true, here's wishing all good things to you.

Herb Kleiner—or Herby for short, excels in friendship and all lines of sport, in soccer and physics he ranks so high, he certainly catches the ladies eye.

Liliane Van Haerlem—We all must admit is the life of the party, the soul of wit; a good friend and artist rolled into one, joking and laughing, she's lots of fun.

Vivian Hammond—a nicer girl you could not find, sweet, helpful, good and kind. With bright brown eyes and a sunny smile, she suits us fine, we like her style.

Marie Van Haerlem—petite demure and not so shy, she'll take the hill of life on high, down friendship's sunny trail and be a lasting tribute to 4D.

Jim McFadyen—full of vigor, full of vim, ever cheerful is our Jim. In work he takes a pride industry personified.

Dave Mallough—with gentle yet prevailing force he's bent upon a destined course, a willing worker whom we rate as conscientious and up to date.

Ellen Romuld—where there's music to be heard, there you'll find her tripping feet, proving to the tripping world, 'tis music makes the world so sweet.

Evangeline Friesen—Evangeline is a country lass, she's the brown-eyed susan of our class, ever ready with zeal and zest, always willing to do her best.
