

4D

Shirley Robert—The perfect Senior Pin. Besides that she does a million other things, too numerous to mention. There couldn't have been a better choice than Shirly, for our school's highest honor. Her distinctive feature is that cute giggle.

Mr. Hibbert—The harassed shepherd of a flock of black sheep. Mr. Hibbert deserves a medal for the guidance he's given us this year.

Gerald Fielding—"100%" Fielding, they call him. He is especially noted for his colorful notes. Quiet and conscientious, he's the audience for all 4D's performers.

Rosie Geatros—Our blythe spirit, Rosie is everyone's pal. She's an active member of the witty corner in Lit., but doesn't confine it to one class alone. She's also vice-president of the Lit. Council.

Marjorie Gilliland—Her ambition (as yet un-filled) is to pass just ONE algebra exam. Supposedly shy (OH!) Marj is Literary Ed. of the NCEye; would like to make radio her vocation and she's got the voice for it.

Arnot Hawkins—He was captain of our nearly victorious rugby team. Hawkeye is an excellent shot-putter. Maybe it was a stray one that broke a room 18 window, Arnot?

Angus MacKenzie—The man with the wings . . . or so it seems when he goes over the cross-bar. Inseparable friend of Keith's. He gets his share of A's.

Betty Hutcheon—Our ping-pong, and tennis champ. Hutch gets more publicity! (See Don, Al, Arch, or Joe). She's one of the best-natured in the room.

Marcelin MacEachern—She's pert and poised and the editor of the NCEye. How she's changed from the meek little freshie she used to be! According to reports Tarts intends to do absolutely nothing when she finishes school. (That's what she said, so help me!)

Neville Piggott—Our Hermes photographer and general jokester. If any mischief is up, Neville's bound to be in there somewhere. He has a sweet habit of taking pictures of unsuspecting people and then springing them on the poor victims.

Ken Scott—He's the little man that's always there, because he's the boys' sports reporter for Nutana. Ken is one of the very few quiet members of the class; an expert bowler.

Betty Nicholson—She's as demure as a piece of Dresden China. Joan's sidekick, she manages to do well by herself, too. She's our efficient N.S.S. rep.

Loris Ann Burke—A year as Hermes rep. is enough to class anyone as potential North Battleford Hospital material (and not as a member of the staff.) Also one of Nutana's sports reporters. Excels in writing poetry.

Mary Ann Smith—Our Hermes editor in chief. Favorite occupation seems to be beating the second bell. She also contributes to the NCEye. She's a real wit, or are we only half right?
