

4D

Alwyn Ewen—Who's the man that volunteers to do any job around the school? That's school-spirited Jug for you. He's a wonderful salesman and his pep-talks are something to hear. Another one with a fiendish sense of humor.

Donalda Clark—Our school leader plays everything from basketball to tennis and excels in all. Her cute smile and pleasant personality have made her a favorite around the school. Donalda usually manages to beat the bell with about ½ second to spare.

Evelyn Gessler—"Effie" combines beauty with brains and adds a touch of gypsy to 4D. She's right up to date on everything from history to he-men. Her art has been seen on many posters since grade 9.

Keith Ewing—The boy with the Blue Buick. He's studious, Quiet?? and everyone agrees he's a wonderful guy. Keith is headed for varsity, next year.

Don Furse—Another whizz with a ping-pong bat. Don manages to take the blame for a lot of things he didn't do. He's right in there when anything's going on (that shouldn't be, usually).

Margaret Harris—She's a very welcome addition . . . came all the way from E school. She brought with her a Talent for directing plays. Marg upholds the scholastic record, too.

Joan Leeson—The boy with the green hair has nothing on "deep purple" Leeson. She's always ready to brighten any class with wisecracks, but there are brains under that crowning glory.

George Kunkel—Georgeous George lives up to his name. He's another point-getter in track and field, and was a member of our rugby Blues. George manages to keep in the social limelight as well as keep up his work.

Arleigh Nordstrom—Frequently seen around are Arch and his opposite "Jug". A basketball and rugby player, he's a menace to anyone with those horribly fiendish faces he makes.

Jean McGarva—Jean is a wonderful all-around sports enthusiast. Her only bad habit (that we know of) is passing notes. She's a definite asset on Field Day. Everyone likes Mac, she's a swell kid.

Ruth Parrott—The class would be lost without our cute, sweet, Ruth. Her cheerful disposition is welcome among the more solemn (?) members of 4D.

John Rae—A science whizz and math, too. How did John get the chickenpox this fall? (maybe Donalda knows!) He's planning on a year at the Tech shop and then Engineering at Varsity.

Joe McMillan—The class stoic and seemingly the only "logically reascning member of the human race" in 4D. He doesn't say much but when he gets started he's a walking dictionary. Joe is also president of the Drama club.

Gladys Somers—A part-time student whose presence is appreciated when she is here. Wish we saw more of her.
