

Cheryl Lachuk was on the honour roll and worked in the canteen upstairs. She Candy Striped and plans to study nursing. Cheryl will probably end up working in the hospital cafeteria.

Vern Larson is a loyal member of the F.A.D.A. and enjoys driving and wrecking motorcycles. Verne plans to go to Kelsey after grade 12 (Nutana will be losing a rare specimen indeed . . . a quiet, grade 12 boy.)

Frannie Longworth participated in several activities at Nutana including Lit Council and Owner of the Girls Baseball team. Frannie's wit and charm are only exceeded by her driving ability. Her plans are for Education at the U. of S. starting this fall.

Carol McBride will probably never play for the Harlem Globetrotters. We wish her the best of luck in her mysterious future.

Rob Milligan was a member of the B.U. Elks and the Freshie Basketball team (alias: Happy Hooker). Mull also swept up in Sr. Curling. He wants to further his education.

John Laroque was a quiet guy; he came as a mystery and left as a mystery. John is now working at Fredelle's and plans to attend either tech or university in a few years.

Kay-Chui Lee previously attended Langenburg and Churchbridge high-schools. He enjoys music and soccer and would like to study engineering after completing high school.

Wendy Luykx was President of the Pep Club and because of this her 9-5 bank-telling job is an excellent possibility. What she'll tell them, we'll never know.

Debbie McNiven contributed greatly to cheerleading at Nutana during her 3 years on our squad. Debbie's sparkling smile filled our hearts with joy as she cheered our teams on from game to game. Thanks for your spirit, Deb, at least we know somebody had some.

Shannon Mills finished during the 1st semester this year. She contributed her talent to Basketball, Drama, Lit Council and Track. Most of all, we remember her as she was, tirelessly and courageously fanning the sparks of Nutana's gossip.

k. Iarsen was president of the Lit Council, SYCC member and part of the World Affairs Club. She plans to travel next year and may learn something . . . at last.

John Lo was obviously quite happy at Nutana; he was observed singing to himself on more than one occasion. If someone can actually sing here, maybe it's not such a bad place after all. Good luck with your future plans, John!

Murray Mazer was one of the Flying Zuchinis. El Presidente of the N.A.S.S. and, best of all, the Freshie King in grade 9. Murray plans to continue practicing Advanced Chickenscratch Technique while taking Computational Science at the U. of S.

Ariane Merz discovered her true calling during Nutana's production of "Strange Bedfellows" this year. Ariane is probably doing something after grade 12. We hope for her sake that it's not hustling pool.

Lianna Nemeth also finished grade 12 at mid-term. She was on the honour roll, helped with track and field and will probably go down to posterity as the quietest person ever to attend Nutana. Good luck, Lianna!
